

Truro Jr. High School is a peanut-aware environment. We recognize that nut allergies are very serious and potentially life-threatening. To keep our school community safe, all staff and students are asked to please read labels and avoid bringing snacks to school containing nuts or traces of nuts. Keeping our environment clean and safe from nut residue and potential nut allergens is a priority at Truro Junior high school. We communicate to all staff and students the importance of being a "peanut aware" environment and our goal is the safest possible learning environment for each and every student.
